

DELICIOUS COTTON CANDY

“It seems like every car in Vehicleville is lined up to try my new recipe,” Professor grinned.

“Uh-oh, Professor,” Derek said. “Looks like we’re getting low on cotton candy.”

A vibrant, cartoonish scene from the Pixar movie "Cars" set at a fairground. In the foreground, a light blue classic car with a black top and a wide, toothy grin is looking towards the viewer. It has large, expressive eyes and a prominent chrome bumper. In the background, a yellow car is visible near a booth with a sign that says "Liquor and Drivetrain". A large, striped tent and other fair structures are also present under a blue sky with clouds. A purple and white striped banner runs across the middle of the scene.

“Oh, no!” Professor said. “Well, I have a bunch more back at the lab, but I have to stay here to watch the booth. I suppose I could ask Maria. She’s very trustworthy.”

“We could go get it for you, Professor,”
Derek offered. “You can trust us.”

“Really?” Professor asked.

“Sure,” Johnny smiled. “I can have it here in no time... faster than Derek ever could.”
